

Download Adjustment Of College Freshmen As Predicted By Both Perceived Parenting Style And The Five Factor Mo

Adjustment of College Freshmen as Predicted by Both Perceived Parenting Style and the Five Factor Model of Personality ... the five factor model of personality. The Big Five trait model of personality seems to be the most commonly used and agreed-upon conceptualization of person-ality (Bardi & Ryff, 2007). A plethora of research has been conducted on the five factor personality model and ...Adjustment of College Freshmen as Predicted by Both Perceived Parenting Style and the Five Factor Model of Personality Article (PDF Available) in Psychology 02(04) · January 2011 with 428 ReadsAdjustment of College Freshmen as Predicted by Both Perceived Parenting Style and the Five Factor Model of Personality—Personality and Adjustment. Psychology, 2, 275-282. doi: 10.4236/psych.2011.24044 .The present study explored the relationships among freshmen students' personality traits, their perceptions of the parenting styles employed by their mothers and fathers, their positive and negative adjustment, and their adaptation to college. Freshmen participants (74 men, 116 women) were from a Midwestern, religiously affiliated university. Results revealed that the relationships between parenting styles and adjustment to college, although statistically significant, were quite weak. In ..., Adjustment Of College Freshmen As Predicted By Both Perceived Parenting Style And The Five Factor Mo.

Other Files :