Hermann Detzner, portrayed on the jacket of the 1921 edition of his book, Four Years Among the Cannibals. Human cannibalism is the act or practice of humans eating the flesh or internal organs of other human beings. A person who practices cannibalism is called a cannibal. A report from the White Coat Waste Project says the USDA made kittens into cannibals and killed 3,000 cats for toxoplasmosis research. Cannibalism, as repulsive as it is, can be understood in cases where consuming the deceased is an alternative to certain starvation. Those who eat human flesh by choice, however, tend to be the ..., Life Among The Cannibals.
