

Download Theory And Practice In The Bioarchaeology Of Care

Find a course: Below you can find a course that's right for you, if you would like to see the courses by subject area you can visit our Undergraduate subjects page or Postgraduate subjects page. Introduction. Socialization is the process by which children are prepared to become successful members of society. This requires the learning of skills, behavior patterns, ideas, and values needed for competent functioning in the society in which a child is growing up. All faculty and staff in the Division of Anthropology and Archaeology work with undergraduate and graduate students as instructors, advisors, and mentors. The conservation and restoration of cultural heritage focuses on protection and care of tangible cultural heritage, including artworks, architecture, archaeology, and museum collections. Conservation activities include preventive conservation, examination, documentation, research, treatment, and education. This field is closely allied with ..., Theory And Practice In The Bioarchaeology Of Care.

Other Files :

Theory And Practice In The Bioarchaeology Of Care,